INTRODUCTION

The Basement Rock Committee of the Kansas Geological Society became inoperative in 1965 with the publication of their "Final Report" (Cole et al, 1965). Since then, the activities of the senior author have included continued monitoring of the deep wells drilled in Kansas. This report is the most current listing of approximately 2900 wells which have penetrated Precambrian rocks beneath this state. Wells drilled in all previous years, through 1972, are included here in the same format used in previous publications of this type.

LIST OF WELLS DRILLED TO THE PRECAMBRIAN

The list of wells (Table 1), arranged in geographic order by township and range, for the west ranges and then for the east ranges, includes a state-county code, name of the well, location, surface elevation, drilled depth to Precambrian rock encountered, the stratigraphic unit overlying Precambrian, total depth of the well, and the year in which it was drilled, in that order.

Keys to the abbreviations used in Table 1 are as follows:

Acknowledgments

The authors wish to acknowledge all of the people whose earlier efforts resulted in previous publications of data similar to this which are integrated here with more recent information. The Kansas Geological Society's Basement Rock Committee, including numerous employees of the Kansas Geological Survey, have promoted interest in the accumulation and use of data on Precambrian rocks in Kansas. Without the cooperation of the oil and gas industry, in general, this would not have been possible. We acknowledge the assistance of Owen Spitz, Patricia Waldron, Gary A. Waldron, Colleen Burns, Margie Lisbona, and Sharon Hagen of the Kansas Geological Survey, in preparing this publication for printing.
